Occoquan Bridge. - As stated in the Gazette of that day, several of the employees on the Alexandria and Fredericksburg Railway, with several of our citizens, made on last Saturday, an exceedingly pleasant excursion on the A. & F. R. R. from this city, over Occoquan Bridge, at Colchester, seventeen miles from Alexandria. This bridge, erected under the supervision of Capt. Crawford, Chief Eugineer, by Messrs. J. W. Esch and John Hannon, Assistant Engineers, J. W. Coffrode, John Powell, John Martin and others, may be justly regarded as one of the most substantial structures in Virginia. It may not be out of place to mention among the excursionists Jas. McKenny, Paymaster and General Superintendent, Edward McIntire, Chief Clerk, Wm. H. Thornton, Contractor, David Pulman, M. Mc. Lean and Thos. Lannon, one of our most enterprising and deserving merchants. The presence of Capt. Hamill, Jas. W. Myers, esq.. and many ladies of Occoquan, added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion. There being an abundant supply of refreshments and other necessaries, the time was passed very delightfully. The Washington Chronicle in noticing the completion of the bridge, says:

"On the morning of the 13th instant a party of gentlemen left Alexandria upon a construction train for the purpose of making the first trial trip across the high bridge and trestle at Occoquan creek, and thereby testing the solidity of the work; they were accompanied by the engineer in charge, Joseph Crawford. After a rapid and pleasant run of seventeen miles they reached the rubicon, and locomotive No. 1, thickly crowded with railroad men, steamed slowly across, while the whistle snorted exultingly 'Onward to Richmond," Its arrival upon the southern bank was enthusiastically greeted by a goodly gathering of the citizens of Prince William county, and a number of the fair ladies attested their faith in the safeness of the structure by accompanying the bold pio neers upon their return. After crossing and recrossing several times at a slow rate of speed, the engineer pulled the throttle wide open and crossing at a rapid rate conveyed the excursionists back again to Alexandria. The bridge is nearly a quarter of a mile in length and seventy five feet above the water in Occoquan creek. so as to allow of the easy passage of all shipping underneath, and thus obviate the necessi ty of having a drawbridge. The engineers tested the deflection under load and pronounced it to be entirely satisfactory. We understand that the coming month will open the Pennsylvania railroad new all-rail route south, via this road and the Richmond. Fredericksburg, and Potomae railroad.

THE LEESBURG POISONING CASE - Under the telegraphic head in Saturday's Gazette it was announced that Professor Tonry, of Baltimore, the chemist to whom the stomach and its contents of Maud, the only remaining child of the late Charles E. Lloyd, of Leesburg, was submitted for analysis, had reported as the result of his investigation the finding of metalic arsenic. Upon the reception of a telegram to that effect in Lesburg, the coroner's jury, which had been awaiting the result of the chemist's analysis, reassembled in the Mayor's office at eight o'clock that night, but at the instance of Matt. Harrison, esq., counsel for Mrs. Lloyd, who represented that the evidence of the telegram was not sufficient to warrant a verdict, adjourned until half past ten o'clock Tuesday morning. Town Sergeant Barney Atwell, who summoned Mrs. Lloyd to appear before the coroner's jury, being informed by her that in consequence of late indisposition she could not walk, at once procured a back, in which she willingly accompanied him. None of the witnesses were examined, however, and she was bailed in the sum of $2,000, Samuel Orrison becoming surety, for her appearance when the jury shall reassemble to morrow. During her stay in the Mayor's office she seemed perfectly composed and at ease, stating to persons who entered into conversation with her that if she had killed the child she could have been thousands of miles away; and, also, that if the children were poisoned, it must have been from milk procured from a connection of the family named Paddy McGill. The town is much excited, and the sympathy the accused received has been almost if not entirely withdrawn. If guilty her victims are seven in number, commencing with her husband's mother, then her husband, who died suddenly after eating an apple, the taste of which he complained of as bitter, then her aunt, then her two little boys, who died within a short time of each other, then a little daughter, followed by Maud, whose death gave rise to the present investigation. It is understood that some, if not all, of these will be disinterred and an analysis made of their stomachs. It is each of her two daughters.

YESTERDAY. - Yesterday was a delightful spring day, and the large congregations present at the different churches, and the many persons on the streets, were patent evidences of the enjoyment it afforded. In the morning a large number of colored people assembled at Battery Rodgers and witnessed the baptism of some of their race, and in the afternoon many persons visited the grave yards and the other suburbs. The city was very quiet, not a single arrest being made by the police during the whole day. Bishop Johns preached at Christ Church in the morning, and Rev. Dr. Bond, of Baltimore, in the M. E. Church South, morning and night. With these exceptions all the pulpits in the city were filled by the resident clergy. The following is a report of the work done during the day by the Young Men's Christian Association: 'The Alus House services were well attended with the usual interesting exercises and interest. There was a full attendance of the committee. The usual exercises were held at the Jail with the same interest. The Sunday prayer meeting at the Methodist Episcopal Church had its usual full attendance, and the exercises were of the most devotional and interesting character. The appeals of the speakers were most fervent to the unconverted present." This prayer meeting just returned from the North with a large and will be held next Sunday in the 2nd Presbyterian Church.

FOURTH WARD RADICALS.-Pursuant to notice, a meeting of the 4th Ward Radicals convened at the colored Odd Fellows' Hall, on Columbus street, last Saturday night. John A. Seaton presided and Chas. W. Brown acted as secretary. The Chairman stated that the meeting had been convened for the purpose of preparing for the approaching municipal election, and suggested the importance of taking such action as would secure the registration of all such persons as will be entitle I to vote.

A colored member then offered a resolution expressive of the sense of the Radical voters of the 4th Ward, in relation to the action of the late convention in refusing to appoint Lewis McKenzie one of the delegates to the State convention which is to as emble at Richmond on the 17th proximo, which was discussed pro and con by several colored persons, when it was withdrawn.

A committee of three, consisting of R B. Hopkins, George Cooper and Charles Henry, was appointed to secure the registration of all such persons in the 4th Ward who are likely to vote the Radical ticket, who have not heretofore registered. The above named committee were instructed to procure a list of the present registered voters of the 4th Ward. Wm. Miller, colored, then offered the following resolutions, which, after some spirited discussion, were, upon motion of Wm. Miller, plored, declared adopted: Resolved by the Republican voters of the 4th Ward.
